BUILDING CODE AND PLUMBING CODE TABULATION

Washington
July 9, 1931

Source of Information

The information presented in the following list of municipalities is based on answers to questionnaires sent out during April and May, 1931, to building inspectors, city clerks, and others from whom it was thought authentic information could be obtained. In some cases where replies were not received information obtained in other ways but believed to be correct has been inserted.

Questionnaires were sent out to cities, boroughs, villages and towns having a population of 1,000 or over. The tabulation, however, is based upon cities and towns having a population of 5,000 or over. The other questionnaires are held in the files for reference and a summary of replies shows that in addition to those shown in the tabulation there are 470 municipalities that have building codes and 465 that have plumbing codes.

Purpose of Publication

Previous surveys made for the information of the Building Code Committee of the Department of Commerce in its work of preparing recommended building-code requirements have proved of interest to municipal officials, material-producing organizations and others interested in the subject. It has been found that through the interchange of information between cities of similar size that are revising their codes much of common interest is brought to light. In view of this the present survey has been prepared in mimeographed form and made available to those who wish to familiarize themselves with methods, progress, and experience in building-code revision.

Dates of Codes

Those to whom the questionnaires were sent were asked to give the year when the code now in use was adopted or revised throughout. Minor revisions and amendments take place frequently in codes and, with few exceptions, have not been considered to change the date of the code itself for the purpose of this tabulation.

A summary of the replies, upon which this tabulation is based, shows that 88 cities have building codes and 82 have plumbing codes 20 years old or over; 126 have building codes and 104 have plumbing codes from 15 to 20 years old; 162 have building codes and 97 have plumbing codes from 10 to 15 years old; 342 have building codes and 210 have plumbing codes from 5 to 10 years old; 419 have building codes and 324 have plumbing codes less than 5 years old.

The fact that a given municipality is reported to have no code does not necessarily mean that building is unrestricted. In a number of localities there are state laws which apply.

Revision of Codes

The question in this case was whether work was actively underway on a fairly complete revision.

In order to establish what subjects were requiring most attention in revision work, the question was asked what were the principal changes made in revision now going on or recently completed. The most practicable method of indicating these subjects appeared to be to give them an identifying number in the tabulation and then explain the numbering elsewhere. Accordingly each major subject has been assigned a particular number and a key to this system will be found on the last page.

Use of Department of Commerce Recommendations

For 10 years the Building Code Committee of the Department of Commerce and its Subcommittee on Plumbing have been studying building and plumbing codes and have issued recommendations in the form of 7 reports. These have been made available to local committees and others interested in safe and economical requirements and the survey shows that they have been used in revisions now complete or going on by 281 municipalities in building code work and by 183 in plumbing code work.

Reports on other subjects will be issued from time to time and the older reports revised as occasion requires. It is hoped in this way that the results of research and of experience may be available to all those who wish to apply them. Inquiries concerning the recommendations mentioned should be addressed to the Secretary, Department of Commerce Building Code Committee, Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.
